November, 2022

This month's highlights in San Martin Goshala- infant calves & much more!

Per Veterinarian instructions, cows require dry and soft ground to rest on especially when they live outdoors in low temperatures during night. Recent rainstorm had left the resting ground to be muddy, cold with standing puddles of water.

Efforts were undertaken to remove muddy ground, levelled with dry dirt, and a raised bed to flow water down and filled with dry sand to create a dry soft ground for younger group. If this works, something similar will be built for bigger cows group.

Cows seems to like their new living space. They jumped on right away!

GIVING TUESDAY is this week on Tuesday November 29th, 2022.

We Hope to be recipient of your Kindness on this Special Day of Giving.

Future Hopes~

We hope to continue efforts in the San Martin goshala to better the lives of its residents.

Besides food, Medical /Veterinary care is an important need of any animal sanctuary. We hope to extend our support to another animal sanctuary (for farm animals) regarding their pressing medical treatments.
