January, 2023

This month in San Martin Goshala- Rain storms & Tragic passing away of Baby Calf Rukmini:(

Hope you are all safe amidst of extreme weathers on both coasts. California had also been dealing with floods, arising from winter-storms.

Goshala got flooded too but Heartiest Thanks to your donations, contractors were hired during stormy weathers to drain flood waters out of cow's living areas.

Aloe Vera garden space has been created in goshala. Cows' urine(gomutra) collection pits have been revived and connected via drainpipes to irrigate the Aloe Vera Garden. Cow's urine(gomutra) has high levels of nitrogen much needed by garden beds. Aloe Vera plant is very helpful for cows' digestive system, plus it is used it as a herb in treating many ailments and infections.

January 18th was an unfortunate morning in Goshala with a tragic loss of baby calf. One female baby calf Rukmini was found lying lifeless in the morning and rushed to the Vet hospital. Unfortunately, Calf didn't make it:-(-

Reasons-Nobody knows yet but doctors at UC Davis Veterinary hospital are working on to ascertain the cause.

We will keep you updated as more information becomes available in coming days.

Future Hopes~

1) We hope to continue efforts in the San Martin goshala to better the lives of its residents. Quality care of goshala residents & their off springs, maintaining healthy & clean-living environments, and adequate protection from severe weathers conditions are crucial for their wellbeing.

We have a ground team assessing and ensuring quality care standards are in place at San Martin goshala to ensure continued support in future.

2) Besides Food instability, Housing & Medical /Veterinary care are important needs for any animal sanctuary. We will work to extend our support to more farm animal Rescue & Rehabilitation sanctuaries regarding their pressing needs to help their vulnerable residents. We will keep you updated as things develop in coming months.

We are also seeking volunteers to help support our research team remotely. If you can spare an hour or few in a week, please email us at: goshalacowfood@gmail.com or info@goshalabjanimalcare.org
All research work is done remotely!

Your generous support to Goshala BJ Animal care ensures that we can continue to feed, provide shelter and medically care for the animals from hunger, extreme weathers, and sickness. Without your support we would be unable to help these voiceless creatures.
Thank you very much.
