This month highlights- Rescue & Rehabilitation developments & San martin goshala updates

Furthering our research to partner with rescue organizations, we have found the sanctuary with an open space for a rescue cow!!

The family-friendly animal sanctuary is located in the Bay area of San Francisco and more details will be out in the upcoming weeks. Our search for rescue led us to the worst place on planet- a slaughter factory :-)

In few weeks, the rescued baby calf will undergo wellness examination by the licensed veterinarian and be transferred from the slaughter to the safe sanctuary and its needs will be taken care of by Goshala BJ Animal Care.♡

Thank you so much for saving a life.

Your donations at work!!

Your support will be enabling our very first rescue with many more to go.....

Volunteer section

We are also seeking volunteers to

a) help search goshalas/animal sanctuaries to rehome rescued cows &

b) to support our grant research team remotely.

All research work is done remotely by volunteers!

Updates on San Martin goshala-

Sadly, another baby calf passed away in the month of March.

Also, as per requested by the VVGC temple management, support for this project will be paused temporarily in April 2023. We wish them well always.

With YOUR continued support, we hope to feed, and provide shelter and medical support for the cows & farm animals in need

Thank you ♡
